

Eugene Sirotkine

Eugene is a skilled choral conductor, pianist, and organist. He has served as Music Director in a variety of churches in the New York metropolitan area, most recently as the interim Music Director at Round Hill Community Church in Greenwich, CT. Eugene has also been the Music Director and Conductor of the Hudson Valley Singers since 1998. For nine years until 2008, he was the Assistant Chorus Master of the Metropolitan Opera in New York.

A native Russian, Eugene received his Masters in Choral Conducting and Organ from the St. Petersburg Conservatory, in St. Petersburg. Since coming to the United States in the 1990's, he has also studied organ performance at Oberlin College and Orchestral Conducting at Mannes College in New York City.

Although he is classically trained, Eugene loves and is comfortable with all types of music. He has played keyboard in many bands and he is looking forward to participating in our Soul Celebration worship.

Eugene lives with his wife and two young sons in Manhattan. He is a man of deep faith who loves making music with people of all ages.

You can watch him conduct and give a short lecture on Beethoven's Missa Solemnis by clicking here.